2. Review of key questions to consider in deciding on a Common Core model
   - Should the Common Core only include three-credit courses, or a mix of three- and four-credit courses?
   - How should STEM fields be handled?
   - How broad should areas be within the Common Core?
   - Should History have its own area in the Common Core, or be placed with either the Humanities or the Social Sciences?
   - How should foreign languages be treated in the Common Core?

3. Discussion of proposed models for the 30-credit Common Core
